FOREWORD AND NOTICE:

The noble titles, connotations, and honorific designations contained within this blessed family document are not intended for boasting, vanity, or pride. Rather, they represent a celebration of the blessings of Allah Almighty, optimism in an honorable name, and a hopeful prayer for the righteousness of our descendants to follow paths of nobility and virtue. Titles are a responsibility and a trust to instill sublime values and high morals in the younger generation. We pray to the Almighty to make this lineage the comfort of their parents' eyes, servants to their faith and society, and adorned with humility and piety.

EDUCATIONAL VALUES AND HISTORICAL CONTEXT OF THE TITLE:

The designation of this blessed lineage as the "Lineage of Kings and Princes" is based on an ancient legacy of historical values that connects our children with the attributes of leadership, chivalry, and societal responsibility. True kingship in Arab and Islamic history is defined by self-control during anger, the establishment of justice, and extending the hand of generosity and benevolence to aid the weak and rescue the distressed. This historical connection serves as an educational covenant that obligates future generations to be kings through their morals and princes through the nobility of their conduct, leading the way in seeking both religious and academic knowledge, following the example of the righteous predecessors in combining high status with a humble and pure soul.

Therefore, these meanings have been inscribed into the family document to serve as a high motivational catalyst that links the present with the past, urging our sons and daughters to safeguard this moral heritage by adhering to the principles of knowledge, integrity, and dignity, so that they may truly remain an honorable family extension in their societies and homelands wherever they reside.
